

Book Marks

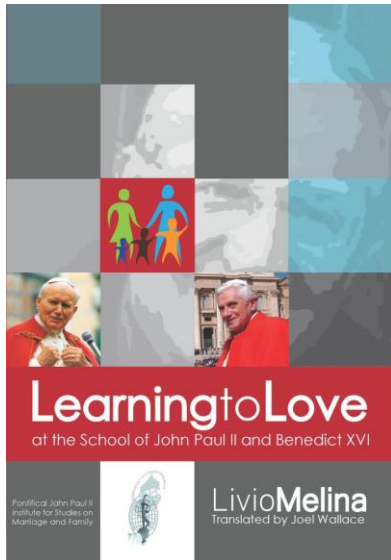

Book Marks

Book Launch & Discussion

FEATURING

Fr Joel Wallace

Translator of Learning to Love: at the School of John Paul II and Benedict XVI (MODOTTI PRESS, 2011)
Fr Wallace is priest of the Diocese of Wagga Wagga and is currently completing a Doctorate in Sacred Theology at the Pontifical John Paul II Institute, Rome.

“... Setting aside both romanticism and rationalism, Livio Melina offers readers a deeper understanding of love, leading to the relationship between love and hope. This is an encouraging and inspiring work.”

Bishop Peter J. Elliott Director, John Paul II Institute, Melbourne Session.

Learning to Love: At the School of John Paul II & Benedict XVI

A book by Mons. Livio Melina

6 pm Tuesday November 8th, 2011

at

The Caroline Chisholm Library

3rd Floor\358 Lonsdale Street Melbourne 3000

RSVP 5 pm November 7th.

(03) 9670 1815 or cclibrary@bigpond.com

Learning to love at the School of John Paul II and Benedict XVI is a profound introduction to that "theology of love" which lies at the heart of the Christian Faith. Professor Livio Melina, Professor & President of the John Paul II Institute for Marriage and Family presents the mind of Pope John Paul II and his successor, Pope Benedict XVI to learn the "fascinating beauty" of human love.